

Regrettable Resignations.

The Ogden News says: The announcement of the resignation of Mr. Dickson as United States District Attorney for Utah, and Mr. Varian as his assistant, has been received with universal regret by all loyal-minded and law-abiding citizens. They have, in a short space of time, accomplished what their predecessors failed to achieve in a long series of years. They left stable positions and profitable practice to follow the call of the Government of the United States towards the putting-down of lawlessness and the establishment of law in this Territory. Faithfully and fearlessly they justified the trust placed in them, and they went to work with a will and a determination to see the laws obeyed, justice done, and vice punished.

There was a hard row to hoe. Weeds were so thick, the woods so dense, and the waves so heavy, that they needed strong arms to weed their way out, sharp axes to make a clearing and superhuman buoyancy to float on the top crest of the surging billows. They did more, in a few months, to impress the people with the majesty of the law of the land than dozens had done in years. They frequently met with ignominy, contumely, calumny, and scorn. If they now leave the field they were working to clear off the brambles, all good citizens will consider their retirement as regrettable resignation.

Mary Anderson's "Rosaland."

Mary Anderson's "Rosaland" elicits the usual long and contradictory criticisms from the New York dramatic reporters but there is a general agreement that it was a charming representation.

The Tribune says: It is the best "Rosaland" this generation has seen. It is neither a sensual rake nor a flip-pant hoyden; nor, on the other hand, is it in the last degree suggestive of an insipid prude. It is a noble, brilliant, pure and lovely woman.

The Times says: Miss Anderson possesses such qualifications for the character as beauty, grace and a marvelous richness and purity of voice, but she lacks warmth and magnetism and while her acting did not sink to common-places, it did not rise to excellence. Her audience was a remarkable one, and her reception was a mighty chorus of warm-hearted cheers.

The Sun says: Miss Anderson's aspect has not perceptibly changed during absence from New York. Possibly five pounds of gain in flesh had round her figure slightly, but not essentially she was the same tall, slim, queenly, beautiful young woman as before. Measured by the standard of her own feistiness, as a declaimer of tragic roles Miss Anderson's playful comedy in "Rosaland" was not very near perfection, and tested by comparison with the tenderness and the jocularity imparted to the character by several actresses within memory, it was not completely satisfactory. All critics agree, that her English company render poor and inadequate support.

As we predicted Ohio has proved loyal to the Republican party by electing the entire State ticket and a majority of the Legislature, which will elect a Republican Senator. Since 1860, the Democracy has never carried the State at two successive elections. When in power, the greed for spoils was such as at one fell swoop they put, as they term it, the rascals out, and they have been most unfortunate in the choice of rascals they put in. That State has many reformatory, primitive, and benevolent institutions supported by the State, hence many appointees, honorary and remunerative. Probably in no State has the treasury had more watchdogs, and in no State has the public institutions been managed with more economy than in that State under a Republican Administration. That is the great reason why the rascals who were turned out by the vote of two years ago have been turned in by the vote of Tuesday.

Senator Sherman's present term expires in March, 1887. He has been in Congress continuously since 1855, with the exception of the four years he served as Secretary of the Treasury under Hayes. He left the House in 1860 to take his seat in the Senate. As he has never failed of re-election when a candidate, and as he desires another term at the close of his present one, it is tolerably certain that he will be his own successor, if the Republicans of Ohio have elected the Legislature. Thirty years of uninterrupted public service ought to give any man a strong backing.

It is announced that E. J. Baldwin has engaged J. W. McClelland as trainer next year, with Isaac Murphy to ride. The colored Archer receives $6,000 as a retainer, and $25 and $15 for each mount, win or lose.

AT THE PAVILION.

The Magnificent Display the Admiration of All.

The Pavilion has been crowded for two evenings, and the industrious sight seekers find much that is interesting. Every case in the building was filled to its utmost capacity on Tuesday last. Since that time those in charge have been obliged to deny reception to a great many exhibits. In the so-called department of fancy work the ladies come to the front with a display fairly bewildering. The Nevada Woman's Art and Industrial Association have a large, varied and thoroughly fascinating collection of this kind of work, filling nine standing cases, as well as much space upon the north wall. Quilts in every conceivable material and design; table cloths and scarfs of felt, plush, satin, silk, or velvet, with tasteful ornamentation in painting, ribbon work, Kensington or chenille embroidery; handkerchiefs, collars and cuffs, barbs and fleeces, of hand-made lace, in duchess and bouillon designs; table linen, toilet sets and tidies with green-ways figures in outline work; ladies' underwear, hand-made, some of the most exquisite being the work of Mrs. Curry, of Carson, a lady over 80 years old; wool and silk flannels with elaborate satin stitch embroidery; some extremely beautiful samples of Mexican work; fine knitting and crochet in cotton, silk and wool; elegant mantle lambrequins, sofa pillows, wall banners, ottoman tops, chair backs and cushions, with Kensington painting, arseene chenille and Kensington embroidery; handkerchief boxes of fanciful construction, ornamented with delicate flower painting; work in skeleton leaves; one complete dessert set of China beautifully decorated, and a set of daintily painted dessert plates. The following ladies have contributed articles for the exhibit of this association: Miss Theresa Tufty, Miss Emma Knust, Miss A. Weber, Mrs. Dr. Lee, Mrs. O. R. Leonard, Miss M. Hodgkinson, Mrs. Charlie Hofer, Miss M. Constantine, Mrs. W. P. Bush, Mrs. M. E. Jones, Miss M. Davis, Miss F. Meder, Miss M. Stuart, Miss H. Humphrey, Mrs. C. F. Becknell, Mrs. J. H. Martin, Miss Carrie Belknap, Miss Ollie Bray, Miss Laura Marsh, Miss Fannie Dorsey, Mrs. L. Sprague, Mrs. G. T. Day, Mrs. A. Curry, Mrs. Wm. Cary, Mrs. D. Culp, Mrs. Dr. Edwards, Miss H. Oleovich, Mrs. E. Reynolds, Mrs. H. M. Yernington, Mrs. J. Kenton, Mrs. Charles Rulison, Miss Mollie Marsh, Miss J. Torreyson, Mrs. O. A. Withersell, Mrs. Hixon, Mrs. M. D. Hatch, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. J. Hambleton, Mrs. L. Sprague, Mrs. Mary Brown, Mrs. Ed. Sweeney.

There are, besides this exhibit, thirty-six cases filled with a varied and elegant assortment of fancy work, much of which is the work of Reno ladies. No line is neglected and materials and designs are elegant and artistic. The ladies of Virginia, Truckee, Wadsworth and adjoining places add much admired specimens to their taste and skill. Some of the most wonderful needlework ever exhibited is sent from Lone Pine, Inyo county, Cal. There is considerable needlework from the hands of children under twelve. Patchwork quilts, crochet work, darning and garment making all proclaim patience and industry. Mrs. C. H. Eastman, of Oakland, adds to fine landscapes and a fruit panel in oil to the art gallery. Mrs. C. T. Meder, of Carson, shows some novel work in battered brass. Mrs. Bigam has originally constructed wreathes, roosters' feathers, hair and skeleton work. The spray of chestnuts in arseene embroidery is much admired—the work of Mrs. Culp. Mrs. Gallatin has a rocker upholstered with silks of crazy work. Mrs. S. Cahn shows one upholstered with embroidery in wool. Mrs. Marshall has an ottoman, hand-embroidered. The collection of relics from Mexico, owned by Dr. Pritchard, of Truckee, to the lover of the curious, is a great attraction. L. E. Lee's contribution from his job printing office speaks well for one so young. The inlaid box is a thing of beauty. The specimens of crystallized salt, from the Desert Crystal Salt Company, are worthy of note. The Misses Klus, of Sacramento, fill quite a space with gloves of their own make. The scroll work of master Cahn is evidence of skill in that line. The collection of birds' eggs of master John Shoemaker is a fine one. John Sunderland makes a most attractive display of boots and shoes selected from his large stock. The collection of shells, fossils and heinbocks, put on exhibition by Mr. Rattray, is not only large but many of them most rare. Two of them, the tent shells and the petrified fish imbedded, possibly cannot be duplicated. In the wagon and carriage line Rev. Mr. Jennings makes a good display of those manufactured by Studebaker Bros., South Bend, Indiana. H. M.

Bernard, of Sacramento, is on hand with a lot of first-class light vehicles. Of the home show in this line W. J. Luke does credit to Reno, and from the character and quality of the work we can take it for granted that he is able to compete with foreign manufacturers.

The exhibition of agricultural implements is not as great as it should be, but is sufficient to show the contrast of our mode of plowing with that of the Mexican. No one should miss seeing the primitive Mexican plow.

There is not much competition in dairy products, but the cheese manufactured by Theodore Winters is evidence that this industry is in its infancy.

The specimens in the horticultural and agricultural departments are excellent. The beets, turnips, pumpkins, potatoes, apples, grapes and cereals, cannot be excelled in size and quality.

Inyo County's Exhibit.

For the first time since a State Fair was held at Reno, Inyo county, California, sends an exhibit to the Pavilion. The productions shown are a new revelation and a surprise, coming from a county the very existence of which has not been known to many citizens of Nevada up to the present time. Inyo county is reached by the Carson and Colorado Railroad from the Mound House, beyond Carson, and the town of Independence, the county seat, is about three hundred miles south of Reno. The present exhibit is due to the exertions of Mr. C. Mulholland, editor of the Inyo Independent. The popular conception of the country represented by this exhibit is that of a region of sterility; of frightful deserts and utter desolation. It is not so very long ago since the regions now included in the great States of Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado, were known as the "Great American Desert." A similar erroneous idea has hitherto prevailed in regard to Inyo county. This display of the productions of Inyo proves that it is one of the most fertile regions in the United States. The grapes shown are most remarkable, and include twelve varieties, all of them the choicest known. These grapes are pronounced by experts to be the very best for making the choicest wines and raisins, and also for table use. No such grapes were ever before seen in Reno. The apples include fifteen varieties, and are so beautiful that visitors never fail to utter exclamations of delight and surprise on seeing them for the first time. The quinces are constantly mistaken for some large, beautiful variety of pears. Usually the quinces grown east of the Sierra mountains are small, knotty, and worthless; but these are large, smooth, handsome and fine flavored fruit. It is at least a month too late for a fine display of peaches; but late as it is peaches are shown that indicate what the country produces. Mr. Mulholland says during the past and preceding seasons he repeatedly weighed peaches that went a pound apiece. As with peaches so with plums; it is too late to make such a display as could have been made some weeks ago. Only three varieties are shown, but these are very fine. Prunes of the finest varieties are produced in Inyo; the French, German, and Hungarian varieties attain perfection. A convincing proof of the mildness of the Winters in Inyo, is afforded by an exhibit of figs. Of course where there is very cold weather the fig tree will not live at all, except in a hot house. A very handsome display of honey in pound boxes is made. This is the most convenient form in which honey can be gathered for family use. Extruded honey in cans is also shown; this, too, is a very beautiful article. This honey is from the apiary of Mr. W. Muth Rasmussen, at Independence, the county seat of Inyo. In the ladies' department Mr. Mulholland makes a display of Spanish needle work, also an Inyo county product, that has caused a positive excitement. The ladies in charge of the very beautiful work from Carson, and who are certainly competent judges, say this is the finest work of the kind they have ever seen. Ladies who attended the California State Fair, where there was a large exhibit of Spanish needle work, say none of it would bear comparison with this from Inyo county. This whole exhibit is of very great interest to all of western Nevada. For a long time to come, if not for all time, this part of the State will have to import fruit. The display at the Pavilion proves that Owens Valley can supply us unlimited quantities of all kinds of fruits of far superior quality to any we get from west of the mountains. From the orchards of E. Robinson, John Baxter and J. W. Symmes at Independence, and Mrs. Sallie Bell at Big Pine, such apples come as were never before seen in Reno. The grapes from Diaz Brothers, of Lone Pine, Mr. Symmes, of Independence, and Mrs. Bell, Big Pine, are splendid. Parties from Los Angeles, Napa and other parts of California, have examined these grapes at the Pavilion, and all agree that these are fully equal to any they have ever seen. Owens Valley must really be a very valuable region; nearly every product of the earth appears to be grown there. Mr. Mulholland says one of his neighbors, Mr. E. Robinson, has this season gathered from seventeen acres of land, an average yield of fifty-two and a quarter bushels of wheat. Another neighbor, Mr. John Baxter, at three cuttings had an average yield of thirteen tons of alfalfa hay. Competent judges are confident that oranges can be grown in the valley, and are about to set out an orchard as an experiment; no trees having yet been planted in the county. The principal farming region of Inyo county is Owens Valley. This valley lies between the Inyo mountains on the east and Sierra on the west, and is one hundred miles long by fifteen wide. Owens river flows the entire length of the valley from north to south; it is a large, deep stream of pure water, and flows with a majestic current, having a very regular descent of five and a half feet per mile. This river will afford an abundant supply of water for irrigation, and is yet almost untouched. There are tens of thousands of acres of the best lands in the valley yet open for settlement by homestead, preemption, or desert land entry. No place on the Pacific Coast offers a better chance for a big land speculation than Owens Valley, though, of course, every one but speculators would prefer to see the country settled up by thrifty farmers on comfortable homes. The valley is easily reached from Reno over the Virginia and Truckee railroad to the Mound House, and from there by the Carson and Colorado railroad. This road runs all the way to the extreme southern end of the valley at Owens Lake. Fruit dealers, and even consumers, should correspond with the producers whose names are given above in relation to getting their fruit from Owens Valley. Inyo county is most intimately connected with Nevada, geographically, financially and socially. In fact in all relations except political division, Inyo is far more a part of Nevada than of California, and our people should do all in their power to draw our relations still closer by extending our business in that direction. We should buy from the people of Inyo all that we need of what they produce. The attention of the right kind of people has how been drawn to that great country, and beyond all question there will soon be a great increase of wealth and population there. Every one should make it a point to go to the Pavilion and see the Inyo county display; Mr. Mulholland is in attendance and is always ready to give information.

PROF. BELL'S NEW IDEA.

An Invention more Important than the Telephone.

(Cor. New York Mail and Express.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7.—Professor Bell is actively at work upon problems of sounds and electricity in a way that promises an invention of far greater importance, scientifically, practically, than the telephone itself. His laboratory is an odd fashioned two story house on Connecticut Avenue, in the neighborhood of the British Legation, Stanley Mathews's house and the residence of Mrs. John Davis. He has also a private and secret laboratory over in Georgetown, where at present he has a skillful workman engaged upon the forthcoming instrument. What it is, is known only to the professor and the man who is working at the idea. The inventor has said to his friends that if he succeeds the new idea will yield him greater returns than the telephone. It is suspected, however, by those who have given the matter some attention upon the subject that it is the telephone, or the use of electricity to produce over the wires the image of the person speaking before the instrument. Professor Bell is a man of prodigious mental energy, and he is developing new ideas and new applications of electrical force for the production of useful machines. He throws them off as easily and carelessly as you can fancy. For instance he made not long ago an instrument called audiometer, which might be called the eubmarine telephone, but which can be ascertained by the echo from a stone dropped upon the bottom of the bay or river in which the craft may be floating just what the depth is at that point. He has also utilized the telephone to record the echo at sea which may show the distance of icebergs and other obstructions. Even a buoy can be distinguished by its use. Prof. Bell is gradually growing out of all business pursuits and devoting himself to the improvement of the deaf. He is constantly giving more and more time to his little school, where he has perhaps a score of pupils, most of them wholly deaf, to whom he is teaching the art of sight language. He is training these little children so that they can distinguish from the lips and face of the person speaking what they say, and teaching them to imitate the proper arrangement of the lips, teeth and tongue so that they may articulate sounds. It is understood that Prof. Bell is at work upon the problem of resolving heat at once into electricity, a result, if it can be obtained, that will greatly simplify and cheapen all uses of electricity.

Wild Strawberries in October.

Ripe wild strawberries in October, growing in Sierra Valley, is probably something never before seen. Jaron Strang informs us that a lot of them can be seen in his field, and he has promised to leave a sample of the fruit at this office. He says that blossoms, green and ripe berries can be seen at the same time. This is probably the result of the warm weather of the past month. It is certainly an unusual phenomenon, considering the fact that this valley is 5,000 feet above sea level.—Sierra Valley Leader.

A Valuable Knife.

Gen. Phil Sheridan and Senator Palmer sat side by side at table at the Army of the Cumberland reunion at Grand Rapids. "Senator," observed Sheridan, "I have a knife that I will sell you for five cents. I cannot give it to you because the gift of a knife cuts friendship. The man of whom I secured it sold it to me on the same terms and for the same reasons." "Who sold it to you?" "General Grant." "The Senator bought it and says that $1,000 would not buy it."—Detroit Free Press.

A Milwaukee paper, by a queer typographical error, said that a drunkard took to his room "two half-gallon judges filled with whiskey."

If you happen to invest your money on the wrong horse you can come nearer getting even by going to J. J. Becker's for a hot lunch and a glass of Philadelphia beer than in any other way.

The JOURNAL will endeavor to-morrow to report Senator Stewart's address of last night.

Judge Rising and family are enjoying the Fair.

This will be a big day at the track.

Its Start Under Favorable Auspices
—The Carson Exhibit at the Pavilion.

The Carson Appeal says:

No agricultural exhibit in Nevada ever started under more favorable auspices than the Fair now being held at Reno.

The policy of the Agricultural Society in times past, was to make it a Reno affair alone, and have it little more than a show for Washoe county. Under a broader management this year, the Board was drawn from all the counties in the State. The newspapers were more liberally patronized, and as a result, the Agricultural Society are enabled to present for the consideration of visitors, an exhibit of which they need not be ashamed.

THE RACING.

The purses on the aggregate foot up $10,000, and the speed programme is a splendid one. It has drawn together at the track, some of the most noted running and trotting stock on the coast, and the sagebrush men got in good on Monday, when the running race was taken by Miss Courtney, a Nevada product, owned by Theo. Winters. Visitors are delighted with the fact that the races are run on time, and there is no long delay, to enable the pool box to get its fix in to the detriment of the public.

THE CATTLE EXHIBIT

Is a wonder to all who visit the stalls. Probably the exhibit so far which has attracted the most attention, is that of Vail Bros. of Churchill county, and Scott & Co. of Halleck.

Vail Bros. have some magnificent specimens of the Aberdeen and Polled Angus cattle, which seem quite fit for a zoological garden.

Scott & Co. have the immense Hereford beef cattle and there is also a fine showing of blooded Jerseys. The finest Holstein bull, as regards size and appearance, is entered by Mr. Gulberg of the Truckee Meadows, and comes from Nile's stock yard, San Jose.

Ormsby county has a Holstein bull and cow on exhibition, which, however, cannot consistently be bragged of in these columns.

The stallion exhibit is represented by some exceptionally fine Norman horses, and Ormsby county has the famous Gibraltar there, owned by John Sweeney, and valued at $5,000.

THE PAVILION.

The display of fruits, wines, flour, honey and corn from Inyo county attracts much attention at the pavilion. The grapes from the vineyards of Diaz Brothers, Lone Pine, and J. W. Symmes, Independence, are particularly fine. The bunches are of immense size, and the grapes are simply perfect. It is safe to say no finer grapes are produced anywhere else in California.

The varieties are chiefly Flaming Tokay, Muscatel, Black Morocco, Black Hamburg, Zinfandel, Golden Chasselas, Mission and White Chasselas. The apples are splendid specimens of their kind; they are from the orchards of E. Robinson, John Baxter and S. A. Donsmore, and include the following varieties: Vandevere, Spitzenberg, Cooper's Market, Red Canada, White Winter Pearmain, Ben Davis, Yellow Belleflower, Alexander, Ladies Sweet, Rawley's Janet, Dominie, Winesap, Wegener and Lady Apple.

The pears include the following varieties: Doyenne du Cornice, Duchesse D'Angouleme and Winter Nelis. Plums include Victoria, Washington and Cox's Late Red varieties.

The display of peaches is but small, and it is at least five weeks too late in the season for peaches from Inyo county. The peaches of Owens Valley, taken in the proper season, are unsurpassed in size, color and flavor. Mr. Mulholland, who has charge of the Inyo county exhibit, says during the past season he weighed many peaches that went from 14 to 16 ounces each. The ears of corn are very large, such as would be looked for only from Illinois. The samples shown were raised by Mr. R. Hession at Big Pine.

A beautiful display of honey is made, some in the comb in pound boxes, and some extracted. The comb honey is as white as bread, and the extracted is as clear as amber. This honey is from the apiary of Mr. W. Math Rasmussen near Independence. These splendid products are a surprise to all but a few, who knew something of this, as yet, little known country.

The display of manufactured goods is very fine. The first sight on ascending the stairs is the immense exhibit of F. H. Mulcahy of the San Francisco Soap Company. A. C. Leeper's saddles, harness, etc., are on the south, and John Sunderland's boot and shoe cases beyond. The north side of the large hall is filled with fancy needle work, oil paintings, etc. The wagons, buggies and furniture are all worthy of notice. There is a sugar pine plank 42 inches wide and 16 feet long, put in by the Truckee Lumber Company.

THE WOMEN'S ART AND INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION

Is surrounded by delighted crowds. Miss Theresa Tufty and Miss Maggie Cavanaugh have charge of the exhibit, and all Carson visitors find a warm reception there. Within a couple of hours after it was displayed, all Reno was being ransacked to come into competition with it. The rivalry between the ladies of the two cities is strong but good natured. The unprejudiced visitors say that Carson is ahead so far, for beauty of design and thoroughness of workmanship.

THE CARSON EXHIBIT.

The Women's Art and Industrial Association of Nevada has a fine display at the pavilion, and most of the work comes from Carson. The Reno people have made a great effort to make a similar display, but in the matter of fine needle work have done no more than make a respectable record. The following contributions are from this city: Sofa pillow, Henrietta Olcovich; 4 banners, Mrs. M. E. Jones; 2 pictures and 3 banners, Miss Constantine, aged 9 years; hand made rug, Mrs. Edward Sweeney; skirt, blanket and shawl collar, Mrs. J. M. Martin; 8 painted plaques, 1 tile and 2 panels, Ollie Bray; 1 handkerchief case, Theresa Tufty; 4 darned laces, Mary Bray; 1 oil

How Times Change.

The Walker Lake Bulletin remarks: For years past the search for silver has been diligent, all rock bearing the distinctive signs of the metal has been carefully examined as soon as found and many good and many more worthless mines have been opened. While silver was the fashion, colorless rock was thrown away or never picked up, and in Hawthorne district, large deposits of gold lay under the feet of men who were spending money and time in an unsuccessful effort to develop a paying silver mine. On the west or Mount Cory range the experience has been the same, but now the glimmer of gold in the pan is all that is looked for and the highly colored silver-bearing rock is out of fashion and out of favor.

Senators Lyman and Westerfield were at the track yesterday.

Ex-Governor Kinkaid was at the track yesterday.

The Result in Ohio.

The Bee says: Wet weather could not prevent a Republic victory in Ohio. The Republicans have elected their State ticket, and secured a majority of the Legislature on joint ballot. The control of the Legislature is of more consequence than the election of the State officers, as a United States Senator is to be chosen this Winter. It is a foregone conclusion that Sherman will be returned to the Senate. The Prohibitionists, as usual, polled a much smaller vote than their leaders counted on, and if, as is claimed, their strength is drawn mainly from the Republican party, the indications are that the Republicans are gaining ground rapidly in Ohio. The contest was a repetition of that in 1883, when Hoadly and Parker were pitted against each other and the former was elected by a plurality of over 12,000. The plurality is reversed this time, and Ohio is redeemed. Comparatively little interest has been excited by the contest, outside of the Buckeye State. It is an off year in politics. A notable feature of the struggle was the exposure of enormous Democratic frauds in registration, which the Republicans were happily enabled to guard against.

The Walker Lake Reservation.

The Walker Lake Bulletin says: There is every indication that all the wood and water on the mountains west of the lake will soon be needed for the reduction of ore in this neighborhood. In the meantime the Indians hold the territory and make no use of it. There are rich mines on those mountains awaiting the miner's pick, and, while the land is almost absolutely useless to the Indian, it would yield large revenue to white men. The water of the lake would be just as free to the Pines as it now is, and they would lose nothing in having the southern portion of the Reservation abandoned. That there would be immediate and intelligent search made for gold, every one knows, but nobody can see why department red tape is still permitted to enclose the territory without remonstrance from those who represent the State in Washington.

EQUALIZATION NOTICE.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT, AT a regular meeting of the Board of County Commissioners of Washoe County, Nevada, held on the 24th day of September, 1885, said Commissioners sitting as a Board of Equalization, upon complaint duly made and entered therein, caused citations to issue as follows:
1.—To W. B. Todhunter, requiring him, the said W. B. Todhunter, to be and appear before said Board on the 30th day of September, 1885,
and show cause why the number of stock cattle assessed to him for the year 1885, should not be raised from 1,500 to 3,000, and the value thereof from $22,500 to $45,000. That on the 30th day of September, 1885, the consideration thereof was continued until Monday, October 5, 1885, at which time the Board proceeded to consider the matter, and no appearance being made or objections filed therein, the number of stock cattle assessed to him was raised from 1,500 to 3,000, and the value thereof, $22,500,
was added to his assessed valuation of his said
property; thus raising the assessed valuation of said personal property from $22,500 to $45, 000.
2.—To George D. Winters, citing him to appear before the Board on the 30th day of September, 1885, and to show cause why the valuation of personal property assessed to him for the year 1885, should not be raised from $10, 980 to $23,850. That on the 30th day of September, 1885, the consideration thereof was continued until Monday, October 5, 1885, at which time the Board proceeded to the consideration of the matter, and no appearance being made or objections filed therein, the valuation of his personal property was raised as follows, to wit: 68 head of horses from $10 per head to $20 per head, and 2,400 head of sheep returned by him was raised to 9,000 head; thus raising the assessed valuation of his sheep from $24,000 to $18,000, and a total value of personal property from $10,980 to $10,000.
